Information for Study Day Volunteers:

As of 2024, BMUS has introduced a BMUS Student & Trainee Volunteer programme that is open to all registered BMUS Student members.

This is a fantastic opportunity for all ultrasound students and trainees to join BMUS as a member, and have the opportunity to take part in BMUS Study Days throughout the year, free of charge!

As a volunteer, you will be eligible to apply to join study days across our annual calendar to gain invaluable education from our experts in the field of ultrasound.

BMUS would be looking for locally-based student members who will be able to assist our event coordinator during study day registration and refreshment breaks, to promote the smooth running of the event.

Volunteers will be free to join in the educational presentations, and gain CPD points for their attendance at the event.

Unfortunately, BMUS will not be able to sponsor any travel or accommodation for the event, but your lunch will be included as part of the study day.

We will select volunteers on a first come, first serve basis. If you miss out on a study day you hoped to volunteer for, we will put you on a reserve list, and be offered first option for a future event that is local to you.
