

Deputy Editors required for the Ultrasound journal

Due to an increasing number of article submissions to Ultrasound, the journal of British Medical Ultrasound Society is looking to appoint suitable candidates as deputy editors.

Candidates should be keen and enthusiastic and have an interest in one or more areas of ultrasound application and/or its use in clinical practice. They should have an interest in reading and publication of topics on ultrasound and ability to undertake critical review of manuscripts on related subject. We have vacancies in all areas of clinical application of ultrasound but we are particularly keen to recruit candidates with interest in ultrasound with expertise in:

- PoCUS
- Obstetrics
- Physics & Technical
- Or any combination of these
- Candidates with an interest in other areas of ultrasound may also apply.

A job description for the post of deputy editor can be found here. To discuss the role in more detail please contact the Editor-in-Chief, Mrs Hazel Edwards Editor-in-chief@bmus.org

To express interest or apply, please e-mail Tracey Clarke at tracey@bmus.org. With your e-mail you should attach the following documents:

1. A cover letter on one side of A4 with your statement of intent stating why you would like to apply for this post.
2. A brief curriculum vitae of maximum two sides of A4 page stating your professional affiliations, post or capacity in which you work, place of work and interest or skills in ultrasound. Please include your contact details and preferred method of communication.

Closing date for applications: 5pm on Friday 26th March 2021.
